

Let's show some extra love for our healthcare workers!

#HeartsforHealthcareWorkers was started by the wife of an ER physician who is hoping a small simple gesture can show our collective appreciation for the doctors, nurses and healthcare workers that are required to report to work each day. She writes:

"They have taken oaths to help others in times like these. They are stressed, and many scared, yet coming home with brave faces for their families. We are constantly washing and cleaning everything in order to keep this virus at bay from our own families. I know this isn't much and there's not a lot we can really do being quarantined, but I'm asking for everyone that's able to prominently display a big red or pink heart on your front door or mailbox so that when these healthcare workers are on their way to work to care for people like us, they see that people like us care about them! A little encouragement can go a long way. This is a great project for the little ones. Let's cover our doors with hearts!"
